OFFICE IN POST-OFFICE BUILDING

JANUARY 11, 1894

Fred Kelly is just recovering from a serious case of grip.

The Assembly ball, Thursday evening was a most enjoyable social event.

Hon. Ulric Sloan and wife have returned to their home in Winchester.

Miss Anna Calvert, of Belfast, has become a student at the Hillsboro College.

Mrs. Smith Grimes, of Mineral Springs, is a guest at the home of Dr. N. B. Lat-ferty.

Ex-Sheriff I. H. McConaughy has moved into his property on South High street.

Dick Burns returned from Blanchester Monday, but was not at the Parker House Burning.

The Knights of Pythias will hold a public installation and banquet at their hall Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gilligan, of Cincinnati, have been visiting friends here during the past week.

Miss Maude McClain, of Greenfield, was an attendant at the Assembly ball, the guest of Miss Etta Hoyt.

Mrs. J. M. Rizer returned Monday evening from a two weeks' visit with friends in Springfield, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Armstrong, of Wilmington, visited Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Armstrong's parents here.

The Hillsboro College boys will debate on Thursday evening the propriety of government ownership for railroads.

Anyone in need of a handsome walnut bed room set or hat rack, call at Overman residence, North High street.

Mrs. D. C. Arthur, who has been seriously sick with the grip and pneumonia for about two weeks is slowly convalescing.

Ed. Hawk enjoyed Monday with friends at Lynchburg, but got back home in time for the house warming that night.

Harry Colvin was fined $25 and given thirty days in jail for the mayor for improper conduct, and $5 and costs for drunkenness.

Stock sale was quiet again Saturday. Only twenty-five head changed hands, and those at low figures—average about $30 per head.

Jacob Feibel has just returned from a three days' visit to Cincinnati, where he has been buying goods to replenish the vast inroads of trade.

Miss Pauline Drillard, who has been a guest of her aunt, Mrs. Jos. Richards, during the past three months, returned Tuesday to her home in Newark, O.

Geo. Bonham, aged fifty-five, died of grip, Friday, at the home of his mother, east of this city. He was an unmarried man. The funeral took place Sunday.

Cadet George Collins returned to the Ohio Military Institute January 8th, at which date the winter term began. His mother accompanied him to Cincinnati.

Mrs. John W. Powell has received $4,000 from the Illinois Central railroad in compromise of her claim for the death of her husband in the Kankakee accident.

The Farmers' and Traders' Bank will be ready for business, as announced, next Saturday. The Citizens' National room has been handsomely fitted up for their accommodation.

The Sheriff's residence is being slightly remodelled by the addition of a few much-needed windows and doors. Sheriff Patton will move in as soon as the improvements are completed.

Prof. J. L. Cadwallader, of the New Vienna High School, during the holidays obtained a life certificate of the state board of examiners at Columbus. There were 103 applicants and only 41 that were successful.

Ed. S. Griffith has opened a shoe shop in the room over the Beas Hive Store, and is prepared to make new work, execute repairing, or do anything in his line, always guaranteeing satisfaction. Give Ed a call and you'll not regret it.

The Graham will have been broken. This is the second will broken in Highland county within thirty years. The other was of a Mr. Smith, from the neighborhood of Monroe. In the Graham case there was about $33,000 worth of undistributed property involved.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Morgan, New Years' night, at their home, on South street, it being their fifth anniversary. Quite a large number of friends were present to wish them many happy returns of the day. It was a delightful occasion, and numerous presents were received by the popular young couple.

"I'm Sorry You're Going Away."

"I'm sorry you're going away," she said. Her voice was low and she hung her head. While a thrill in my heart bade me beware. The danger I knew to be lurking there. But where is the man who warns these? In such a case till his poor heart bleeds? Who is there who does not understand? The arrow of Cupid until too late? Her brown eyes fell and her cheek grew red; "I'm sorry you're going away," she said.

Oh, years that cruelly intervene. The present and that hour between. Put me again where I stood that night—Let me clasp her hand; let the soft firelight Glow on her cheek and her brow so fair; Let her lean on my heart; let me stroke her hair; Let me kiss her lips as I kissed them then, Over and over, again and again, And I'm sure she should not have cause to say To her true love: "I'm sorry you're going away."

Almost a Fire

A fire was discovered in the eastern section of the Parker house about 9:40 Monday evening. The flames originated from the pipe which connects the base burner in the hallway with the flue. This pipe passes through a studding partition and then through room sixteen. It was the studding which ignited and the fire was getting a very fair start when the department arrived. Prompt action soon suppressed what a few minutes more headway would have converted into a very stubborn and injurious fire. The damage will probably not amount to over fifty or seventy-five dollars, mostly from water. The Hetherington grocery below was pretty well drenched, but fortunately the water did not reach their fine or perishable goods.

The new bank is having a beautiful tile flooring laid.

The week of prayer is being observed by the Churches of this city.

Tom Greathouse is now driver of the fire engine. He makes a good one.

R. B. Fairley bought the C. M. Overman home, at Sheriff's sale, Saturday, paying $4,655. Jas. E. McDermott bought the vacant half-lot adjoining for $1,105. Charles Duke bought the ten-acre tract five miles east on the Chillicothe pike, for $255. The tract of 172 acres did not sell. No bidders.

W. T. Wetmore, representing the Cincinnati Tin and Japan Fire Extinguisher Co., will be in our city next Tuesday, and, on that evening, will start and extinguish a conflagration on the Public Square, for entertainment and instruction of the public.

Among those who attended the inauguration were Burch Ervin, Dick Cooper, Burt Harwood, Burt Thornburg, Dick Colvin, Wm. Dryden and John Shutt. The boys speak in glowing terms of the entire event, and all vow that they had an elegant time.

James W. Handley died Wednesday last of typhoid fever, at the home of his brother-in-law, E. T. Sanderson. The remains were forwarded to his parents, at Lancaster, O. Young Handley was only seventeen years of age, and had been living with Mr. Sanderson for a year or more.

That cock fight at which some of our prominent citizens were present may result in some sensational developments. There is a possibility that a number of the boys may have to dance up in court with the whys and wherefores, and if these are not satisfactory—look out!

The Assembly ball was the social event of the season. About thirty couples tripped the light fantastic until 3:30 Friday morning. The music by the Houlthouse orchestra, of Cincinnati, was remarkably fine. Everybody was happy and the occasion will never be forgotten.

Samuel McCoy, a substantial and highly esteemed farmer, died Saturday, at his home near Folsom, from inflammation of the bowels. He was fifty-five years of age and leaves a wife and family. The funeral took place Monday morning at Union, and was attended by an immense concourse of his friends.

The flames have swept the White City from the face of the earth. The shells of lath and plaster fanned by the gale from the lake, burned like tinder. What happened Monday night, might, but for the utmost vigilance have occurred when the buildings and grounds were teeming with people. Among those who know, there was always an uncomfortable ghost of dread for what might happen among those frail, combustible structures.

There is no city, big or little, in all the country which has stood the stress of hard times better than Hillsboro. There's no use giving up. The fight is on and our people have the sand to fight it through. Six months more will see some of the finest structures under way ever begun in the history of the town, and other important improvements will be pushed. It does one good to see the true pluck with which our people are rising to this emergency. "Night brings out the stars!"

Dr. Walter S. Rudisill is one of the few business men who can show a handsome gain last year in the total of his cash receipts over any year previous. Toothache seems to be no respecter of times, and grinds away regardless. When the man with a jumping jaw needs relief, the only question is the best place to go. The Doctor has given such satisfaction in the quality and style of his work that his large patronage is increasing every day.

Save The Boys.

A petition is being circulated asking our municipal authorities to enforce the laws against allowing minors inside of saloons. It is claimed that the law is being continually violated in Hillsboro. The Mayor has acquiesced in the circulation of the petition, in order that public sentiment on the subject may have a full expression. The provisions of the law will be enforced so far as violations are reported. But, it is a well known fact that a strong exhibition of moral sentiment behind the officers is quite a power in the enforcement of any law. There are often people who raise a hue and cry for the rigid enforcement of law, and when the authorities are met by the fiercest resistance, leave them without a shadow of moral support. This move is a good one. The boys should be shut out of saloons, and the officers should be fully sustained in the performance of their duty. Remember, they cannot be every place or know personally all that is going on. The law does not contemplate that they shall spend their time in saloons. Hence, it is necessary, in order to make thorough work, that people should quit saying in a general way that the law is violated, and instead come down to definite facts. Let those who are interested collect their evidence, present their charges, and crowd the issue. Then the municipal authorities can move with proper vigor, and something tangible can be accomplished.

City Council.

At its meeting Tuesday evening, City Council instructed the Solicitor to prepare an ordinance submitting to vote a proposition to issue more bonds for the extension of the water works mains, as petitioned for by many prominent taxpayers. It has been found that these extensions ought to be made to complete the utility of the works, and now is the time to do the work, while the contractors with their force and facilities are here, as much better terms can be secured. The amount of bonds to be issued was left for determination later.

L. B. Boyd was appointed trustee of the Short Line Railroad vice O. S. Price, deceased. Of the first six trustees appointed, four are dead—Benj. Barrere, Henry Strain, H. S. Fullerton and O. S. Price. The two survivors are Milt McKeehan and Fred Zane.

Council adjourned until next Monday evening.

John Brouse, of Lone Oak, Ark., is visiting his parents and friends here.

The prospect of Edward Baxter Perry giving a recital in Hillsboro soon has awakened quite an interest among the musical people of the town.

Supt. R. B. Barrett is going to give the people of New Lexington a series of Lectures and Musical entertainments, beginning with the Harvard Quartette, of Boston, and Miss Ada Coates, elocutionist, about the first of February. There will be four entertainments in the course—two Lectures and two Musical and Literary entertainments.

The law says that, "Whoever sells, gives or furnishes to any minor under fifteen years of age, any cigarette, cigar or tobacco, shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25, or imprisoned not more than thirty days, or both." This law is being violated every day in our city, and there are those who have determined to call somebody to account. If this violation of the law continues it is said there will be prosecutions instituted.

C. A. Snow & Co., have bought the two houses 708 and 710 Eighth street, near the Patent Office, Washington, D. C., and use all the rooms for their business, employing 25 skilled assistants. They do the largest Patent soliciting business in the United States, and it is their aim, and accomplishment, to treat their clients fairly and advise them in their own interest, for it is to their interest to do so.

The Farmers' Institute held in Smith's Hall, Thursday and Friday, of last week was not so well attended as it should have been. Nevertheless, to those who attended, it was one of the most interesting and profitable institutes ever held in the county. There were a number of most excellent papers, and the discussions were all spirited and to the point. These institutes are well worthy of more general attendance.

The work of laying water mains will probably be completed by the end of next week. The entire system will be ready for service early in March. The pumping house is now well nigh enclosed, and the pumps have been shipped. The work on the iron part of the standpipe will soon be begun. This will be twenty-five feet less in height than at first contemplated, making the entire height from the ground about one hundred and forty feet.

The County Commissioners will erect a creditable jail and Sheriff's residence. It will be located on the northwestern corner of the Public Square and connected with the Court House by a bridge spanning the intervening space to the Sheriff's office. The day of wasting money on unprofitable and unsightly makeshifts has passed. This new structure, while not extravagant in any respect, will be a commodious, substantial and pretty edifice.

ANOTHER RAILROAD.

A Scheme That Ought to be Carried Out.

The Clinton County Republican has the following to suggest in regard to railroads. It's well worth considering:

We alluded last week to the fact that Wilmington needs a railroad running north and south. We did not particularize, but shall attempt to do so now, briefly, without undertaking to claim that there may not be more than one route which will meet the demands of our people, we take the liberty to suggest one which it seems to us is entirely feasible.

Ashland on the Ohio river to Charleston, South Carolina. Its projectors are looking for a northern outlet. This they can secure by leaving the river on this side at Ironton, Ohio, running thence, cutting off a bend in the river, to Sciotoville, on the same; thence to Davis and Kuehlon, two villages lying immediately north of Portsmouth; thence, in a line as direct as the contour of the land will allow, to Hillsboro; thence in a direct line to Wilmington; thence to Xenia where connections could be made with the system of roads running north from that point. Or it might better strike the business bump of railroad men to run direct from Wilmington to Waynesville, and thence to Franklin. This line using either branch after leaving Wilmington, if one can credit the authenticity of Norton's railroad map of Ohio, 1891, will open up a section of country absolutely without a railroad, running parallel with none, and crossing roads respectively only at Sciotoville, Rush-ton, Hillsboro, New Vienna, Wilmington and Waynesville.

We leave off at we began with the statement that Wilmington needs a railroad running north and south. The territory which we have indicated needs a railroad. Railroad men can secure money with which to build this road and they will never find a time in which the labor to construct it can be secured at less cost than now. We invite the attention of our exchanges on the line indicated to a consideration of this question.

Good Jails Wanted.

Good, stone jails are getting to be very much in demand in the Ohio Valley, according to the Maysville, Ky., Ledger: "A few days ago Sheriff Shealy and a posse of twenty assistants raided the Oklahoma neighborhood in Bracken county, Ky., and arrested the notorious outlaw, John Boone. Boone and his gang have terrorized and disgraced that section of Bracken county for several months selling whisky without a license, and the good people have been powerless. To prevent a lynching Boone was taken to the Covington jail."

The old joke about "criminals" breaking into jail is not so much of a joke as it used to be. The present attitude of public sentiment with reference to the punishment due in famous crimes sometimes renders it a wise movement on the part of the offender to seek protection from the state, whose laws he has violated, as soon as possible.

At the next meeting of the association, which is to be held in Hillsboro, Saturday, February 24th. There will be a "Query box," and the teachers are requested to send in such questions as they would like to hear discussed. We hope all teachers will take an interest in this "new feature" of the association and make the next meeting an interesting and profitable one. Send your questions for discussion to Will H. Shepherd, Hillsboro, Ohio.

A list of the officers will be found elsewhere. After the ceremonies of the W. R. C. the G. A. R. proceeded to install their officers elect. This was accomplished in the most happy and entertaining manner, and all went well. Though dwindling under the inroads of death, the ranks of the Grand Army are losing none of their patriotic devotion to the country and each other.

Obituary.

Nancy Ellen Davis, wife of Dr. W. H. C. Davis, who died in Cincinnati, Saturday, December 30th, 1893, and whose remains were brought to Hillsboro and buried from the home of her brother, James Smalley, on Tuesday, January 2d, was a daughter of Phillip and Rachel Smalley, born in the village of Rainsboro, September 30th, 1851, where she spent the bright sunny days of childhood, youth, and young womanhood, and where boded and began to unfold those traits of character that distinguished her in maturer years as a friend to the needy, a useful citizen, a true wife and affectionate mother.

At the age of 18 years she professed faith in Christ and joined the M. E. Church and ever after showed the genuineness of her faith by her works. In July, 1872, she married Dr. W. H. C. Davis and soon after became a citizen of Hillsboro, where by her genial spirit and noble bearing, she won and maintained the confidence and love of those with whom she was brought in contact. About two years ago they removed to Cincinnati where she soon became the victim of a complication of physical ills, that defied medical skill and loving care and removed her from the home circle, leaving a husband and three children to mourn their irreparable loss.

Obituary.

M. W. Lane was born Feb. 28, 1817, near Hillsboro, O., and died Nov. 24, 1892, aged 76 years. All his life had been spent in this vicinity. His wife, to whom he was married in 1837, preceded him to the heavenly home over sixteen years. Four daughters remain.

He was converted and joined the Methodist church in 1835. He loved the church and habitually attended its services. On his way to the Sabbath morning services, early in September, he was prostrated and supposed death was near. He was calm and confident, ready to depart if it was the will of God, believing that his peace was made through Jesus Christ. From this attack he rallied and was again about, but continued feeble, and on the afternoon of Nov. 24, without a moment's warning, he was stricken with death. He was temperate, industrious, charitable, a good citizen, a kind friend and a sincere Christian.

A Good Work.

The meetings at the Christian Church continue to increase in interest. Sunday night the house was filled to overflowing and scores were unable to gain even standing room. Rev. O. A. Hill is a man of rare power, holding his audience enrapt while he presents the gospel in a clear and forcible way. He is aided by his wife, who sweetly and tenderly sings the gospel invitation. Up to Monday night seven had been added to the church and the outlook for a large ingathering of souls is most favorable. All cordially invited.

In times of war the Democracy are in favor of taxation on a peace basis. In times of peace they want to levy war taxes.
